Food For Thought:

Passion Never Fails!

Passion does not guarantee success. However, passion is the driving force and a necessary ingredient for obtaining success. Passion fuels confidence, creates excitement, and is contagious. When you're passionate, you make those around you feel excited, and everyone wins. Your passion can help you do extraordinary things, and it has the power to spread to your students. It will ignite their curiosity, and give them confidence to learn. Teaching comes with hurdles and many obstacles. However, your passion will drive you to excel despite the inevitable hurdles. Share your joy and your passion every day, because passion never fails.
